Wu-Fu Chen, Partner

Mr. Chen is an established entrepreneur and investor. He is the co-founder of many successful entrepreneurial ventures. He is perhaps best known as co-founder and VP of Engineering of Cascade Communications, where he was instrumental in building the company from ground zero to $500 million in sales. Cascade went public in 1994 and was acquired by Lucent/Ascend for $2.6 billion in 1997. Mr. Chen also co-founded and acted as chairman and CEO of Arris Networks (acquired by Cascade), Ardent (acquired by Cisco) and Shasta (acquired by Nortel). He was also previously Vice President of Technologies at Cisco Systems. The industry has recognized Mr. Chen's operational and entrepreneurial excellence with numerous awards; for example, he was quoted as "The Germinator" on the front page of the Wall Street Journal and was chosen as one of the top ten entrepreneurs of 2000 by Red Herring magazine.

Mr. Chen is a Partner of the Dragon Investment Fund, a $60M fund that he recently co-founded with Mr. Stan Shih, Chairman and founder of the Acer Group. Dragon Investment aims to become the leading technologies transfer facilitator, business accelerator and funding source in Taiwan by leveraging its world-class expertise in management, market vision, and technologies.

Mr. Chen is also an established investor. Forbes Magazine ranked him as one of the top 100 venture investors in the U.S in 2002. Mr. Chen has a proven track record in identifying key niches, commercializing new technologies, attracting experienced management teams, securing key customers, accessing financing, and executing successful exits. He has early access to a proprietary deal flow based on his long-standing and established industry relationships and reputation.

Mr. Chen received his MSEE degree from the University of Florida at Gainesville and his BSEE degree from National Taiwan University.
